REASONS WHY

Citizens Should Vote Against The Republican State Ticket.

Long List of Lawless Acts Under Taylor and Bradley.

Numerous reasons can be given why voters should not cast their ballots for Col. Belknap in the coming election. The comparison of the administration of Governor Beckham with the administration of his two predecessors, W. S. Taylor and W. O. Bradley, show plainly why the people of the State should prefer Democratic rule rather than government by the Republicans.

Among the reasons why citizens should vote against Colonel Belknap and the Republican State ticket are the following:

Kentucky stolen from Bryan in 1896.

Bradley's administration extravagant and corrupt, with scandals in public institutions.

The use of the military in Louisville, and of thin ballots in the mountains—the purpose of both being the defeat of the popular will and the debauching of the ballot box.

The calling out of the military under Bradley to overawe the Legislature and prevent the election of a United States Senator; and by Taylor to destroy the Legislature and prevent the election of a Governor.

The dispersal of the Legislature at the point of the bayonet, and its chasing through the streets of the State capital by an armed soldiery.

The defiance of the courts by Taylor and his overthrow of the great writ of habeas corpus.

The thousands of desperadoes carried to Frankfort in the disguise of soldiers.

The threats and plots of assassinating the Supreme Court, and the flight of that tribunal from Frankfort to escape death.

The conspiracy to kill off enough members of the Legislature to give the Republicans a majority.

The bloody assassination of Governor Goebel.

The pardon of the accused assassins of Governor Goebel.

The flight of Taylor and Finley to Indiana after their indictment for the assassination of Gov. Goebel.

The long and desperate fight made by Powers and Howard to escape the just consequences of the crime for which they have been indicted, and twice convicted—a fight made possible only by the voluntary financial contributions of Republicans all over the State.

Huge Indian Mound.

Mr. Newton Staples, of this city, has just finished building a barn on the farm of Mr. Will Murphy, which lies on the Indiana side of the Ohio, opposite Uniontown. The barn was built on a huge mound 100x150 feet, and is above the flood stage of the Ohio. The elevation is an Indian mound, and in digging holes for posts several skeletons were unearthed.

The mound is filled with the remains of this race of former days, and strange to say, no prying hands have ever been allowed to dig into this elevated burying ground, the owner having strictly forbidden it. Mr. Murphy's home is built on another mound near by, and this, too, is said to cover hundreds of skeletons. If explored no doubt many interesting relics would be found buried there years ago with the remains of some fallen chieftain.—Uniontown Telegram.

Genius Will Consign Boilers To Scrap Heap.

Through a wonderful invention of F. S. Smith, of South Bend, the mechanical engineering world is to be revolutionized, and in the future engines will not require boilers to generate steam. Instead they will be supplied with a team of generators which is an improvement over anything in its line that the world has ever seen.

Smith's invention was completed within the last two months and the United States patent office has allowed seventeen out of nineteen claims of the inventor. The invention is the work of four years, and every expert who has seen the generator tested is enthusiastic in declaring it to be the leading mechanical device of the century. The greatest advantage claimed for the invention is that it is nonexploding, and that it is very simple to operate. Because of instantaneous vaporization of water, whereby the latter is immediately flashed into steam, the generator can be used with great success for power and heating purposes.—South Bend, Ind., Telegram to Pittsburg Gazette.

The charge of Senator McCreary that Mr. Belknap voted for a negro in preference to an old Confederate soldier can be accepted without question. The Senator is not in the habit of bringing accusations against political opponents when the facts do not justify them. The statement is not calculated to increase Mr. Belknap's reputation as a man who can rise above prejudice and can give the State a disinterested and nonpartisan administration. As a Republican the party will always come before the State, and Kentucky has a good reason to remember that the welfare of the Republican party and of the State are not in union. In order to be entirely correct it should be stated that the only thing Mr. Belknap has ever given the negro is his vote.—Louisville Times.

$50 Fine for Mashers.

There has been much agitation against the well-dressed loafers who frequent street corners attempting to pick up flirtations with women. The Council committee tonight approved an ordinance especially designed to reach this class.

There have been numerous arrests, but no conviction could be had under the present ordinance. The new ordinance was prepared by the City Solicitor on request of the Board of Public Safety. It provides a fine of $50 for any one convicted of following, molesting or insulting a woman.—Toledo Telegram to the New York Sun.

SHAKESPEARE.

At home he found a scoulding wife,
Abroad he felt the joys of life,
While all his glory and renown
Were reaped at last in London town,
He looked for truth in crowds of men,
In field, in street in tavern,
And mingled with the moving throng,
To hear their story and their song,
He pictured life in colors true,
As brilliant as the rainbow hue,
And all his characters display
The pride and passion of today.
He cared not for the creeds of men—
As fierce as beasts within a den,
And looked alone to Nature's God
Displayed in heaven, in sea, and sod,
And held the scales of Justice high—
Uplifted to the sunlit sky,
Weighing the passions of mankind
With lofty and imperial mind.
The Puritan and Pope to him
Were overblowing to the brim
With bigotry and cruel spleen
That desolated every scene,
The midday minds of men in power
He satirized from hour to hour,
And on the stage portrayed the greed
Of those who live by crime and creed,
He tore the masks from royal brows
And showed their guilt and plighted vows,
Exposing to the laughing throng
The horrid face of vice and wrong.
In every land and every clime
He honored truth and punctured crime,
And down the years of his God-like rhyme
Shall be synonymous with Time!
JOHN A. JOYCE.

The following is from a Western paper. It is ingenious, if not probable: "A fellow of the name of Moon living out in Michigan got married. That was a change of Moon. After a while his wife presented him with a daughter. That was a new Moon. He went out and got drunk for joy. That was a full Moon. When he sobered up he had only twenty-five cents left. That was the last quarter. When he got home his mother-in-law met him with a rolling pin and there was a total eclipse and he saw stars."

"It Goes Right to the Spot"

When pain or irritation exists on any part of the body, the application of Ballard's Snow Liniment will give prompt relief. "It goes right to the spot," said an old man who was rubbing it in, to cure his rheumatism. C. R. Sheriff M. D. McInerney, of Kenton county, is out in a card denying the report which has been industriously circulated by the Republicans to the effect that he would vote the straight Republican ticket in November. Among other things he says:

"I am a Democrat, always have been, always will be, and will loyally support and vote the Democratic State ticket from top to bottom, and contribute what I can to its election."

In all his speeches Col. Belknap, the Republican nominee for Governor, has made the claim that he wants Kentucky to become one of the best States in the Union, and declares that he wants the Commonwealth to be governed by men who will "restore the State to her former proud position and make it a fit place to rear our sons and daughters." While Col. Belknap has been making this statement throughout the length and breadth of Kentucky, a record was found in the office of Wm. J. Semonin, the County Clerk of Jefferson county, which Democrats claim makes his position inconsistent. The record is now in the office of Mr. Semonin and will be exhibited to all persons who have any doubt as to Col. Belknap's vote in the State Election of August 6th, 1883.

The record is intact and shows that on that day in the Third Precinct of the Seventh Ward in the city of Louisville, "the kid gloved and aristocratic" nominee for Governor voted for J. W. Asbury, a bluegrass negro and the Republican nominee for Register of the Land Office, over George Cecil, a Pike county mountain Democrat and a gentleman of high standing.

That was when the Register of the Land Office was elected by the people and was voted for just the same as the Governor, the State Auditor and the State Treasurer are voted for now. In that year the negroes demanded representation on the Republican State ticket, and Asbury, the negro, was put on as the nominee for Register of the Land Office. The Democrats nominated Mr. Cecil, who was widely known throughout the State and especially in the mountains as a man of the highest integrity and ability.

Notwithstanding the fact that Asbury was a black man and was not qualified in any sense of the word to fill the office to which he aspired, Col. Belknap, because he was a Republican and "having the best interests of the State at heart," voted for the negro over Mr. Cecil.

Col. Belknap was not the only member of the Belknap family however to go on record in favor of electing a negro to office over a respectable white man, as his brother, Mr. Wm. R. Belknap,

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic. "I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

voted in the same precinct of the same ward on August 6th, 1883, and cast his ballot for Asbury over Mr. Cecil.

Numerous Republicans make the boast that they are the friends of the mountain people. The Democrats want to know if the good people of the mountains of Kentucky want to have negroes in their State offices.

The Democrats of Kentucky want to know if there is any one who has the slightest doubt that if Morris B. Belknap should be elected Governor that he would not appoint negroes to the offices which he will have to fill as the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth. If he preferred a negro to a white man in 1883, the Democrats want to know if he has undergone any change since that time.

These are questions which the Democrats of Kentucky and the people of the mountains and Col. Belknap's "Sambo" friends are entitled to know. During Col. Belknap's present tour through Eastern Kentucky he might do well to tell the people of the Kentucky mountains whether he does prefer a negro in office to a mountain man in office.

Judge R. J. Breckinridge, in a speech to the Democrats of Lincoln county at Stanford Monday, came out unequivocally for Gov. Beckham and the Democratic ticket. He said the courts had decided the eligibility question and that it was a dead issue with him. He declared he could not stand for Republicanism.

The Democratic State Campaign Committee has arranged for a special train for Governor Beckham, which is to make a tour of the State and cover about forty towns that he was unable to reach otherwise on account of lack of time. The tour will begin October 27 and terminate October 31. The late date will be at Lagrange, which will be Saturday, the 31st, after which he will return to Louisville and make another speech.

Governor Beckham will pass through Mt. Sterling on this tour.

Thomas W. Rose a practicing attorney of Morehead, has filed petitions with the County Clerks of Montgomery, Bath, Rowan and Menifee, the counties comprising the Twenty-first judicial district, asking that his name be placed under the Republican device as a candidate for Circuit Judge.

The Clerk of Montgomery County Court is of the opinion that the petition is illegal for two reasons—First that it should have been filed thirty days before the election; second that it should have been filed with the Secretary of State and not with the Clerks.

Mr. Rose threatens mandamus proceedings if his name is not placed on the ballot.

Hon. J. E. Clarke, of Morehead, is circulating a similar petition to have his name go under the same device for the same office.

John W. Holtzman, Democrat, was elected Mayor of Indianapolis Ind., Tuesday, over Chas. A. Bookwalter, Republican, by a plurality of 938.

Notice to Tobacco Growers.

At one o'clock Thursday, Oct. 22, 1903, at the court house, there will be held a business meeting of the Tobacco Growers Association of Montgomery county. A full attendance is requested as officers for next year are to be elected.

H. K. GREENE, Secretary.

To the Members of the Association:

We congratulate the Burley tobacco growers on the success of our organization. We now have 70 per cent of the Burley tobacco, and believe we will soon have practically all of it signed to our company, because some growers have been withholding their crops to see if we will be able to comply with our contracts.

The money has been secured from capitalists to pay for the tobacco, but it will be necessary for the Association to raise some money with which to prepare for handling the tobacco and to start business with. In order to raise this money each grower of tobacco must feel that he is in a measure individually responsible, and our success depends upon your loyalty to the organization and your willingness to come to its aid. The Executive Committee for your county, or our agent, will call upon you and explain what is necessary to raise the needed money, and what will be expected of you. However, don't wait to be hunted up, but call upon your County Committeeman at once and have him explain the situation.

You are urged to subscribe for the stock of the Association to the extent you are able, at $10 per share. If you cannot pay the money, you can pay for stock in tobacco when you deliver it. The stock can be paid for with the increased price you receive for your tobacco, and you will have your stock clear. A large amount of stock has already been subscribed, and every dollar's worth of stock needed will, we believe, be subscribed within 30 days.

The members are all notified that the Association will be ready to comply with its contracts on the first of next December, and they should not contract to sell their tobacco to any other party or concern.

(Louisville Post Oct. 13.)

In spite of blase and worldly-wise people who sneer at simplicity and old-fashioned romance, there is a large majority whose hearts still beat in unison with nature's universal anthem—love—and who enter with unaffected pleasure into the joys and sorrows, the tribulations and triumphs of a play portraying a sweet and genuine love story, such as pervades "At Cozy Corners," which opened a week's engagement at the Masonic Theater last night.

Miss Lizzie Evans, as the sweet and impulsive heroine of the story, captivated the audience at once. Miss Evans needs no introduction to the Louisville public, being well remembered for her clever work in "Fogg's Ferry," "Coon's Hollow," etc., and her work in "At Cozy Corners" demonstrates anew that she is a finished and capable artist. The role of Avis Merrill, a celebrated young violinist, known on the stage as Claudia, affords Miss Evans exceptional opportunities for work ranging from the dainty and airy to the intensely emotional.

Excellent opportunity for character work is afforded by the different village types. John B. Hennings, as Deacon Pettibone, a rich but narrow-minded old skinflint who holds a secret grudge against young Hollister, the minister, makes an excellent foil to Marie Kinzie, who takes the part of buxom Mrs. Bartlett, the minister's friend and comfort, and a "pillar of the church." The necessary villainy is ably supplied by George Turner as Max Hargoff, Claudia's stage manager, whose desire is to sow such contention in the happy little home of the minister that Avis will rebel against the narrow life it affords and turn to him for her former life as a celebrated star. His efforts succeed in a measure, and it is this success that furnishes the strongest scene of the play, when young Hollister discovers his wife in the moonlit church at night, and, in a burst of mad rage, shatters her adored violin over the altar. In the last act, however, the misunderstandings are cleared away, and all ends happily for the sorely tried young couple.

Incidental to the drama there are two specialties of more than average merit. One of these is the "violent" dancing of the Hennings duo, and the other is the Cozy Corners Boy Quartet in a number of popular selections.

MANY USES FOR ALCOHOL.

Germany Is Encouraging Its Application for Fuel and for Power Purposes.

The Kaiser of Germany is encouraging every effort toward the use of alcohol for lighting, fuel and power purposes, and under the stimulus of prizes offered to inventors and engine constructors it is being largely utilized in various ways. Alcohol is economically made from a number of products in Germany, and consequently the supply of it is very large. At a recent exhibition demonstrating the use of alcohol there were shown a number of motors, farming implements and similar things propelled by an alcohol flame. There were also lamps which displayed great efficiency. In a report recently made to Washington, Consul General Guenther writes from Frankfurt that the chief of the fire department of Hanover has recently invented an alcohol firing apparatus, used in connection with an automobile fire engine, which is said to be very satisfactory in practice. The engine is driven to the scene of the fire by an alcohol motor, and while on the way the steam is gotten up by the new invention noted above so that the engine is ready for operation immediately on its arrival on the ground. Ordinarily it is necessary to keep the engine constantly fired in order that the steam supply may be immediately available. Otherwise much time is lost in getting up steam.

BEAGLES WERE TINY DOGS.

Diminutive Canines of Ancient Breed That Could Be Carried in a Glove.

There is no question that the beagle is a very old breed. Early Roman accounts of England contain references to the beagle, even by name. Books published from about 1580 to 1610 describe several varieties of hounds, including "the little beagle which may be carried in a man's glove." That the miniature hound was extremely popular at the time was evident from Queen Elizabeth keeping a pack which were also said to be small enough to put in a glove, says the Country Life in America.

This statement is frequently ridiculed when it is not understood that gloves of that period were not the present-day kind, but gauntlets reaching nearly to the elbow. What became of those glove beagles we may surmise from what we know of the results of later attempts to maintain packs of beagles of eight to ten inches high, the result after some years, being weak puppies that fall short of the fine qualities of the little hunting dog when they are grown up.

UNCLE SAM AS MISSIONARY.

How the Uncle Sam Places in Cuba Were Renovated by the American Authorities.

Cuban cities, like Havana and Santiago, previous to the Spanish war, were great breeders of pestilence, and menaces to the world. Now yellow fever and smallpox have been practically stamped out, and the death rate in the island has decreased one-half, and was lower in Havana last winter than in New York, says the Woman's Home Companion.

In Havana an engineer corps instituted a general system of housecleaning. Every house in the city was cleaned from top to bottom under the supervision of American officers, whether the tenant was of high or low degree; remonstrances availed nothing. As many as 16,000 houses were cleaned in one month. The sewer system was given equal attention; the American authorities cleaned and repaired every foot of sewer, and did it so thoroughly and scientifically that not a man in the cleaning squads was taken ill.

A DIAMOND'S WORTH.

The X-Ray Can Be Relied On with Absolute Certainty in Making the Test.

In detecting a false gem from a genuine, the X-ray, says an article in X-ray photography, in Leslie's Monthly, can be relied on with absolute certainty. Diamonds, as is well known, are pure carbon; and carbon, which is opaque to ordinary light, is transparent to the Roentgen light, while glass, which is transparent to ordinary light, is opaque to the Roentgen ray. On an X-ray photograph of a real diamond nothing will show but the shadow of the gold setting.

An interesting experiment was made recently in watching with the aid of an X-ray machine and a fluoroscope, motions carried on inside of an opaque body. A goose was fed with food mixed with subnitrate of bismuth salt, which absorbs the X-ray. The passage of the food down the long neck of the goose could be plainly traced by the moving shadow cast on the fluoroscope screen.

He Never Talks.

Gen. Kitchener recently declined to be interviewed by a soldier who has since his return from South Africa turned journalist. "Always pleased to see and do anything for anyone who has served under me, but you know I never—" Then he smiled and shook his head.

SHERMAN.

The loud alarm of war is past;
The soldier is at rest;
The world no more with face agast,
Looks to the bleeding West;
But loyal hearts beat o'er the land
And glory has full sway.
In this Republic, great and grand
Peace reigns supreme today.

Manasses, with its bloody crest,
Shall long remain to tell,
How soldiers from the East and West
Upon the southland fell;
And where the Stars and Stripes
were rent,
By shot and bursting shell,
As if the powers of Pluto lent
A hand to ring its knell.

The fruitful field where golden grain
Is ripening in the sun,
Was stricken once with leaden rain,
And victory, nobly won;
And there immortal laurels bloom,
Above the vernal sod,
Where valor sleeps within the tomb-
Embossed with its God.

No more for those heroic dead,
The fires of love shall burn;
Yet, peaceful from their lowly bed,
When springtime shall return,
The violet's empyrean blue,
Shall shine with magic glow,
O'er hearts that once beat brave and true—
Alike for friend and foe.

The dread, "long roll" no more shall call,
These warriors, fierce and bold,
To dash in front and proudly fall,
As Spartans did of old;
But o'er their graves the Nation
keeps,
Its vigils, night and day,
And honor weeps where "Valor"
sleeps.

Bedecked with flowers of May.
The brilliant hero that we see
Today in metal form,
Shall live in loyal memory,
And be a lasting charm,
And ages yet, great Sherman's name
Shall be a battle cry.
Of those who guard our land from chains—
And every foe defy.

And long his deeds shall shine afar,
O'er mountain, vale and sea,
As brilliant as the morning star
That all the world can see,
Add phantom soldiers marching on,
Shall still remain in view,
To keep his memory when we're gone.
As pure as morning dew.

I hear again o'd Shiloh's roar,
Upon that April day,
When battling by the river shore,
The dead and wounded lay;
And all night long the gunboat shell
Went shrieking through the air,
As if the fires of earth and hell,
Had concentrated there.

And there too, at the "Hornet's Nest,"
The brunt of battle broke,
Against the fighting, bleeding West,
Beneath the aisles of oak,
When grand, brave Sherman met the flood
Of Johnston's dashing men,
Who revealed deep in human blood,
Like lions in a den.

Atlanta, and its bloody field,
Shall long remembered be,
Where gallant men were forced to yield;
Retreat down to the sea;
When Sherman and his "Bummers"
Boys.

Marched proudly, brave and free,
To capture with a Nation's noise
The flag of Hood and Lee.
Fond memory once again alive,
Beholds the "Grand Review"—
A loyal host in "Sixty-Five,"
March up the Avenue;
Where shouts of victory rent the air.

From house top, steeple, dome,
To see "Old Glory" still wave there—
For Union, love and home.
A thousand years of glory.
Shall honor Sherman's name,
With a tale in song and story.
To keep green his growing fame;
And down the circling ages,
From the father to the son,
We'll teach on golden pages
How the fields were lost and won.

And how a Nation battled,
Fought each other hard and true,
Where cannons loudly rattled,
To establish great and new
A temple and a tower
So complete in every plan—
To justice, truth and power
And the liberty of man!

In packing apples select a cool,
open shed or the shade of a tree.
Apples should be cooled as much as possible before putting them into barrels. If stored hot they are very liable to decay before the mass becomes cooled through.
Always pick with the stems on.
Avoid bruises and do not handle more than necessary; the natural bloom should be left on. Two layers of fruit should be placed in the bottom with stems down and as close together as possible.
These will form the facing, for this end will be the top when the top put in two more layers layer stand a full inch above the

CATARH A COMMON COMPLAINT.

Catarh begins with a stubborn cold in the head, inflammation or soreness of the membrane or lining of the nose, discharge of mucus matter, headaches, neuralgia and difficult breathing, and even in this early stage is almost intolerable. But when the filthy secretions begin to drop back into the throat and stomach, and the blood becomes polluted and the system contaminated by the catarrhal poison, then the sufferer begins to realize what a disgusting and sickening disease catarrh is. It affects the kidneys and stomach as well as other parts of the body. It is a constitutional disease and as inhaling mixtures, salves, ointments, etc., are never more than palliative or helpful, even in the beginning of catarrh, what can you expect from such treatment when it becomes chronic and the whole system affected? Only such a remedy as S. S. S. can reach this obstinate, deep-seated disease and purge the blood of the catarrhal poison. S. S. S. purifies and builds up the diseased blood, and the inflamed membranes are healed and the excessive secretion of mucus ceases when new, rich blood is coming to the diseased parts, and a permanent cure is the result.

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and a reliable remedy for catarrh in all stages. Write if in need of medical advice; this will cost you nothing.

Members of the Educational Exhibit Committee alone excepted.

Names of all school children voting to be enrolled in the Kentucky Building at the Exposition. Kentucky will have an educational exhibit occupying 2,000 square feet of space in the Palace of Education. The Exposition is to be the greatest international event in the world's history. The 120 teachers chosen will be lucky indeed in being tendered this trip to the Fair. Every county elects its own most popular educator. The county outside of Jefferson casting the largest number of votes will be allowed to send two teachers—the most popular and the second most popular.

THE VOTES WILL BE TEN CENTS EACH, TEN CONSTITUTING A BALLOT.

At ten cents each every school child in the State will be able to cast at least one vote for his or her favorite teacher. But the voting will not be confined to school children.

PARENTS OF PUPILS OR ANY OF THEIR FRIENDS MAY VOTE. The purpose of the Association being to elect the most popular school teacher in each county, as so considered by the public generally, as well as by the school children. Ballots contain ten spaces, so clubs of ten pupils may be arranged and each giving ten cents be credited with his or her vote. If one person desires to cast ten votes, it may be done by writing his or her name on one of the spaces and remitting one dollar. It is not required that the name of the person voting be given at all. All of the spaces for voters' names may be left blank. The Association wants, however, to enroll in the Kentucky Building at St. Louis next year the name of every child who cast one or more votes in the contest. Pupils are asked therefore to sign their names plainly to the ballots.

ALL EXPENSES OF THE TEACHERS WILL BE PAID BY THE ASSOCIATION. This will include railroad transportation from Louisville to St. Louis and return, board at one of the best hotels in the city for six days and admission to the exposition grounds for six days.

THREE PARTIES WILL BE MADE UP FROM THE MOST POPULAR TEACHERS to make the trip more profitable and more enjoyable. Each of these parties will consist of forty (40) teachers. This would make a total of 120 teachers, but as there are only 119 counties in Kentucky, the Association has decided to allow two teachers—the most popular and the second most popular—to go from that county—Jefferson excepted—which casts the greatest number of votes in the contest.

ALL TEACHERS IN THE STATE STAND ON AN EQUAL FOOTING IN THIS CONTEST. The teacher with only twenty pupils may receive more votes than the teacher with five or six times as many enrolled in his or her school, because the voting is not confined to children. The public will be an important factor.

Votes may be cast for any person who taught school during 1902 or is teaching now. This gives the teacher of a five months' school, which closed in November or December, the opportunity to be voted for during the vacation period.

ANY NUMBER OF BALLOTS MAY BE CAST AT ONE TIME. There is no limit. The more dollars sent in for any one teacher the more votes he or she will be credited with.

ONE DOLLAR CASTS TEN VOTES; TWO DOLLARS CASTS TWENTY VOTES; THREE DOLLARS CASTS THIRTY VOTES; FOUR DOLLARS CASTS FORTY VOTES; FIVE DOLLARS CASTS FIFTY VOTES; TEN DOLLARS CASTS A HUNDRED VOTES; ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS CASTS ONE THOUSAND VOTES.

All of the money received in this contest, over and above that used in defraying expenses of the 120 most popular teachers of the State on their trips to the World's Fair, will go for the erection of a Kentucky Building at the exposition; so every voter in this contest may have the additional satisfaction of knowing that he has aided a worthy cause.

THE STANDING OF THE CONTENTANTS WILL BE PRINTED FREQUENTLY in each county to show his or her friends how the race is being run. Begin voting now for your favorite school teacher. The votes will be counted under the supervision of the Educational Exhibit Committee of the Association. The personnel of this committee is as follows: Prof. H. G. Brownell, Louisville; Chairman, Prof. H. V. McChesney, Frankfort; Prof. R. P. Halleck, Louisville; Prof. W. H. Bartholomew, Louisville; Prof. P. Paul Henderson, Lexington; Dr. Chase Palmer, Danville; President William Dinwiddie, Jackson; Dr. W. G. Frost, Berea; Dr. B. B. Hinton, Louisville; Dr. E. Y. Mullins, Louisville; Dr. Arthur Yager, Georgetown; Superintendent M. A. Cassidy, Lexington; Superintendent L. Froese, Frankfort; Prof. C. J. Crabbe, Ashland; Prof. McChesney, Louisville; Owensboro; Prof. T. S. Alley, Bellevue; Prof. C. C. Cherry, Bowling Green; Prof. E. H. Riddick, Louisville; Miss Patti S. Hill, Louisville; Mrs. Emily E. Bracken, Louisville; and Mrs. M. B. Tucker, Louisville. Members of the Educational Committee are not eligible to election in this contest.

REMEMBER EVERY COUNTY ELECTS ITS OWN FAVORITE TEACHER. Competition between counties only applies to the race for the 120th trip, the county outside of Jefferson, casting the largest total number of votes being granted the distinction of sending two teachers.

The result will be announced in every paper in the state, and in addition to this, a congratulatory message will go to the teacher elected in each county. Later the details of the trip will be arranged, each teacher chosen being given the privilege of selecting the month—June, July or August, 1904—in which he or she wants to make the trip.

The Southern Woman.

Myrta Lockett Avery, well known to literary circles in Atlanta, has an article in Gunton's Magazine for October on "The Old and the New Regime in the South," with reference entirely to the women of the ante-bellum and the present era. It is an interesting symposium of the state of mind into which some Southern women of the new era have auto-suggested themselves and we cannot say that they present views of what the Southern woman should be that are either patriotic or commendable.

In one place she quotes one of her Southern women as saying: "The women of our generation call themselves Americans, our mothers call themselves Virginians or Southerners. I do not like to feel that we are peculiar to ourselves. Their state of mind is due to the impress of the war—it is the line of separation yet lingering. It did not exist before the war, certainly, when the South was emphatically American and the preponderating influence in America."

We very much suspect that the lady quoted was born some years after the war and has not read with due comprehension the history of her Southern forebears, although she is described as "progressive as a Bostonian!" And right there, we also suspect, is the secret of too much of the sort of talk quoted by the writer of the article. The women in it like like expatriates, persons who since moving their lares and penates and pecuniary efforts to New York and Boston have absorbed an ambition to be more "national" than the Down-Easters themselves.

It is distinct repudiation of all tradition and all remaining weaknesses of southern ante-bellum life to say that our women of that period did not differentiate between being southerners and Americans. The latter they were in their broad allegiance to the principles which the word American represented, but they were first of all Virginians and Georgians and Texans, if not, how came they to mother Robert E. Lee, and Bee and Bartow, and Albert Sidney Johnston, who forsook office, honors and bribes to do their full and sacrificial duty as Virginians, as Georgians, as Texans—all of them as southerners?

Nothing that we can conceive of could be more calamitous to southern and to American life than to have our southern women adopt the sentiment quoted above or that other passion repeated by the author from the lips of one of her friends, to this effect:

"For myself, I like the modern trend—the larger liberty for men and women!"

Rather let our southern women despise the modern trend, for it is at right angles with that sanctity of their sex which has been the crown of their glory in the past, and that harmony of thought and nobility of action which in the past made them the mothers and wives of men who indeed exerted "the predominating influence in America."

For our part, we would conjure back to our southern homes the grand old days and ways of the women whose lives made possible that southern life, that southern loyalty and that southern chivalry that in their revivals would again dignify southern society and give conquering power to southern patriotism. — Atlanta

Old People Have Their Troubles.

Mr Francis Little, of Benton Harbor, Mich., is over eighty years of age. Since 1865 he has been troubled more or less with indigestion and constipation and has tried almost everything in use for those ailments. Last August he began using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and was soon feeling much better. In a recent letter he says: "I have used three boxes of the Tablets and now think I am well." These Tablets improve the appetite and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. For sale by R. H. White & Co., Druggists.

Fashion Notes of Interest.

Many pretty and inexpensive materials are to be found on counters nowadays that develop into charming little negligee sacques.

Wash flannels and the cheaper grades of albatross and cashmere are three extremely popular fabrics for this use.

Makers today put quite as much time and thought into designs of goods that cost little as into those to be marked at so many dollars the yard.

Cheapness no longer stands for hideousness. Some of the inexpensive materials of cotton and wool, combined in the soft, lustrous pastel colors, rival silks in beauty.

Materials of this class, too, will be found much more serviceable than silks for winter wear. An unlimited saque of silk hardly gives sufficient warmth for service during the colder months.

The Kimona pattern is still in evidence everywhere in wearing apparel for the boudoir.

Violet, the shade of the season, appears even in footwear.

Upon Mr. Smith, of the Fourth district, falls the honor of presenting at the coming session of Congress the bill for an appropriation for the purchase of 30,000 acres of land at West Point as the site of a permanent army camp. He is assured of the united support of the Kentucky delegation, of the entire State press and of every commercial body in Kentucky. The favorable declarations of the army experts will still further strengthen his cause. The victory is worth fighting for, and should he succeed he can rest assured that Kentucky will not prove ungrateful. — Louisville Times.

the "exhortation of the Newport fashionables," as it describes some timely observations upon the conceded indecencies of the Swagger Set of contemporary society, appeared in these columns more than a year ago. Meanwhile, let us say, that the editor of the Courier-Journal has never made a habit of using epithets—though wont to call a spade a spade—and is in reality happiest when, by telling the truth, he is able to make and to see the rascals hop, skip and jump as a good many of them are doing just now. — Courier-Journal

Ran a Ten Penny Nail Through His Hand.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount, of Three Mile Bay, N. Y., ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. AWFUL HEADACHE.

That period of life known as the "Change" is very trying to many women. It generally affects the health seriously. Often it affects the mind as well as the body. In some cases the suffering is very severe and prolonged, and life seems a burden instead of a blessing.

There is no woman passing through the critical period of the change of life who will not receive help from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In almost every case it will cure the pains and suffering, and permanently re-establish the general health.

"When I commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' I thought I would never live through the 'Change,'" writes Mrs. Charles E. Thompson, of Georgetown, Eldorado Co., Calif. "I suffered from all the troubles one could have and live. I had stomach trouble; lived on dry bread and hot water for three months, not being able to keep any food on my stomach; had constipation and awful headache; was bloated at times in the bowels, had pain in the chest and hacking cough, but, thanks to Dr. Pierce, I am not troubled any more."

"Since last October I have traveled over hard, rocky roads in farm wagons and felt no return of any of my old troubles, and I know that before using Dr. Pierce's medicines I could not have stood half of it, as the least jar would have caused aching from head to foot."

"As to the Common Sense Medical Adviser, I am very thankful for it. I would not be without your book if I had to pay five dollars for one of them. I think it is the best family doctor book that I ever saw, and would advise every lady who has not got one of your most reliable and useful books to send at once for one. I know that she would never regret sending for it."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures of other women, do not accept a substitute which has none of these cures to its credit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are easy and pleasant to take. A most effective laxative.

Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—its buncches, cutaneous eruptions, and wasting of the bodily substance—without thinking of the great good many sufferers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, whose radical and permanent cures of this one disease are enough to make it the most famous medicine in the world. There is probably not a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its merit in more homes than one, in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula, which is almost as serious and as much to be feared as its near relative, consumption.

Fine Horses Shipped to Chicago.

Stephens and Fesler and Chas. G. Thompson shipped by express to Chicago yesterday morning a number of fine horses to be sold privately at J. M. Clark's stable in that city.

In the lot were the following:

One pair of cob horses, bays, well broken and high actors.

One pair of bay carriage horses, 16 hands high, of fine style and action and gentle.

One pair brown geldings, 15-3, closely mated, moderately fast and one of the handsomest teams that ever left Kentucky.

One pair fifteen hand bay horses, both nice fellows and as smart as tax—a splendid team for a buggy or light victoria.

Two fine-gaited saddle horses, and the rest of the consignment is made up of a lot of high class walk and trot horses.

This is the chance of a lifetime for the people of Chicago who want to buy first-class Kentucky horses, as this is as fine a lot of horses of the kind as ever left the State. Mr. Fesler is one of the best judges and trainers of harness and saddle horses in Kentucky and handles only the best. He will go to Chicago to personally conduct the sale of the horses and we say to the people there that they can rely implicitly on any statement he makes regarding any horse he offers for sale.

Our high-top shoe is a good one. Best of stock and workmanship and don't cost much.

BEAUTIFUL HOME WEDDING.

Miss Alice E. Chenault and Mr. James Y. Kelly, Jr., United In Marriage.

A beautiful home wedding which was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties was that of Miss Alice Elizabeth Chenault, of this county, and Mr. James Y. Kelly, Jr., of Springfield, Ill., which occurred at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Emma L. Chenault, at half past one o'clock Tuesday afternoon last, Rev. W. J. Bolin officiating.

The lovely home was beautifully decorated in palms, smilax and cut flowers. The color scheme of white and green was carried out entirely in all the decorations.

Just before the ceremony was performed Mrs. Lan Corbin, of Georgetown, sister of the bride, sang "Call me thine own" and "Oh promise me."

To the wedding march played by Mrs. R. Q. Drake, the bridal party entered as follows:

Little Miss Emily Robinson and Master David Chenault, the sweet little ribbon bearers, came first, forming a square with the ribbons. Next came the handsome bridesmaids, Misses Ida Mae Finley and Eliza Kelly, of Georgetown. Following was little Miss Cynthia Thompson, the flower girl, looking as sweet and pretty as a fairy. The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. Tandy Chenault, and the groom with his best man, Mr. Bryan Hurst, of Scott county, meeting under the archway between the hall and parlor where they stood while the officiating minister said the solemn words that made them man and wife.

After the ceremony delicious refreshments were served, the dining room and table were beautiful, the decorations of which carried out the green and white idea.

Miss Chenault is notably handsome, her type the most attractive, blonde, and the bridal attire was most becoming. The good wishes of a host of people center in her marriage, since she is a girl of many charms that have won her popularity.

Mr. Kelly is a prominent young attorney, of Springfield, Ill., and his friends predict a splendid career for him in his chosen profession. He is a son of Judge James Y. Kelly, of Georgetown, and is a representative member of a fine Kentucky family.

It is regretted that he and his bride will make their home in a far away State.

A quiet, but pretty home wedding was that of Miss Mittie B. Farmer and Mr. John A. Rice, which was solemnized at the bride's home on Howard Avenue at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, Rev. H. D. Clark being the officiating minister. This worthy young couple have the best wishes of a large circle of friends for a happy and prosperous married life.

DUTY—HONAKER.

At the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Bruce P. Duty, on Howard Avenue at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, Miss Mary N. Duty was married to Mr. John W. Honaker, of Owingsville, Rev. Horace G. Turner performing the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. After the ceremony and congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Honaker drove to the groom's home in Owingsville. Miss Duty is a young woman of exalted christian character, whose life work has been for the church and the betterment of the world.

CHEAP LANDS

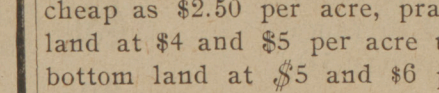

For Homeseekers' and Colonies.

The country along the Cotton Belt Route in Southeast Missouri, Arkansas, Northwest Louisiana and Texas offers the greatest opportunity for Homeseekers. Mild climate, good water, cheap building material, abundance of fuel, and soil that will often in a single season yield enough to pay for ground. Land can be bought as cheap as $2.50 per acre, prairie land at $4 and $5 per acre up, bottom land at $5 and $6 per acre up, improved or partly cleared land at $10 and $15 per acre up. Some fine propositions for colonies—tracts of 2,000 to 8,000 acres at $4 to $10 per acre—big money in this for a good organizer. Fruit and truck lands in the famous peach and tomato belt of East Texas at $10 to $20 per acre up. Write us for information about cheap rates, excursion dates, also literature descriptive of this great country and let us help you find a home that will cost you no more than the rent you pay every year.

A PROPOSAL

I had gone down to my village to work, to get that local color which is supposed to be so necessary to sound fiction. At the end of a fortnight I had not written, at the most generous computation, more than a dozen pages, and I had grown very brown and a trifle melancholy. The cottage in which I lived lay broadside to the village street, and this under the clear sunlight had such a lazy and pleasant aspect that I was content to sit and watch it while the ink dried on my pen. When this simple occupation failed me I sat on a fence overlooking a sloping meadow. Beyond the meadow was a climbing, scattered wood which ended in an open, sun baked heath.

As I sat on this fence one day I saw, far up on the edge of the heath, a hat and ribbons that I recognized. They belonged to a girl whom I had met at a dinner party a couple of months before. Indeed, I had taken her in to dinner, and we rapidly hit upon so many points of divergence and agreement that we soon assumed the candor of old friends. I had not discovered then that she knew my village. Indeed, we were both undiscoveredly surprised when we one day came face to face by the post office steps. I then learned that she had come down with her mother, a younger brother and a maiden aunt.

After that we were continually meeting, quite unexpectedly, and I began to feel reconciled to my meager production.

I watched the hat and ribbons for a time placidly, in profound enjoyment of my morning pipe. When it was finished, I knocked out the ashes, dropped on the meadow side of the fence and began leisurely to wade through the grass. It was evident, from the extraordinary stillness of the ribbons, that Miss Bursar was either reading or asleep.

I could not keep my point of destination in full sight the whole time, because the ground was perplexingly uneven, and the trees were sometimes as impervious as a wall, but I made as straight a line as I could and rather began to fancy myself in the character of a slow but inevitable fate. This idea had commenced to spin itself into a web of sentimental verse when I became aware of Miss Bursar herself within six yards of me. She had an open book on her lap, but her eyes were turned on me.

"How very straight you came!" she said. My feigned surprise at seeing her collapsed instantly.

"How do you know," I said, sitting down beside her, "that I came straight?" She pointed toward the village. My fence was in full view and my track through the tall grass palpable, leading in a bee line toward where she sat.

"So you watched me?" I said. "I saw you," she answered, "quite by chance, and wondered what you were going to do."

She was very young, so young and so pretty, that snatches of verse began to weave themselves in my brain again. I sternly repressed this dangerous tendency and thereby abandoned my only hope of safety.

"How long are you staying here?" I asked.

"Oh, I don't know. Perhaps for three weeks. And you?"

I looked at her. "That depends on my work," I said. She laughed lightly and closed her book.

"It seems to me," she said, "that you don't do much work. You spend half the day on that fence."

"And you," I said, "pass me at least six times a day."

"How hot it is!" she said. "Do you mind opening my parasol?" I unfurled it for her with great tenderness. It was a tiny, dainty silk affair that matched her ribbons as eye matches eye. It had the delicious effect of isolating us still more completely. It threw a pretty golden shadow on her face that made me dream infinitely pleasant things and grow as bold and reckless as the sunshine that drew the scent from the heather round us.

"Miss Bursar"—I began.

"Yes?" she said, tapping her shoes together till they made a sound like a busy woodpecker.

"I was going to say"—I went on.

"What? I did not interrupt you. You stopped yourself."

"I know I did. I was going to say"—I paused again.

"Do you think you will ever succeed in saying it?" she laughed, nodding at me.

"Certainly, if you will give me time. I was going to say what an infernal nuisance it is to be poor!"

"I don't agree with you," she said decidedly. "I am poor, but I don't mind in the least." The admission was like wine to me. I took a deep breath and buried one hand in the hot grass.

"But you are a woman," I said.

JONES & PREWITT, SUCCESSORS TO Oldham Hardware Company

We have a nice line of these buggies which are the best grade.

"That makes it all the worse, doesn't it?" she asked.

"Not at all. You are a woman, you are young, you are beautiful."

"That's very pretty," she said, "but what then?"

"Now, I," I hurried on, "am a man with nothing but my brain to earn money with, a brain that has the trick of getting addled with overwork." She looked at me again and laughed.

"You are giving it a rest down here anyway," she said.

"I'm not so sure about that. Now, if I were not poor, there are all kinds of things I should like to say today. I am going to say them as it is, but—"

"Shall we move a little farther down the hill?" she said. I helped her to her feet, quite satisfied with the progress I was making. My resolution had grown so rapidly that I forgot how perfectly innocent I had been of it an hour before. My own youth, the girl's delightful grace and candor and the intoxication of the sunlight had all combined to make me forswear prudence and take one of life's chances at its best.

As we went down the hill she started running, in sheer joyousness, and, being suddenly confronted with a gorse bush, had no course but to jump over it. Her dress caught, and there was the sound of sudden rending.

"Oh, you have torn your frock!" I cried.

"It was your fault," she said, with sweet illogic.

"It was," I said penitently. "Let me pin it up for you." With the aid of three pins I succeeded in making her presentable, and then we sat down again to rest.

"I'm going to finish what I was saying now," I said. She looked at me and pouted a little, but was not displeased. Her hand was resting on a bed of purple bugle near me, and I took it in one of mine.

"What a pretty brown hand this is!" I said. "How wise you are to let the sun play with it! When I met you first, two months ago, it was quite white."

"I hate gloves," she said.

"Of course you do. Have you ever noticed that the veins are like the shadow of a branch on short grass? I lifted her own hand up to her for inspection and so brought it to the level of my lips.

"Do you know," she said, "that you are being rather foolish?"

"If I am," I answered, "it is your fault. Forgive me." I would have kissed the hand if she had not suddenly withdrawn it.

"Oh, look," she cried, "there is mamma!" And indeed that discreet lady was following my track across the meadow with a truth of instinct that did her credit. But I was not discomfited. I took the hand again.

"She cannot be here for ten minutes," I said, "and I have not finished what I meant to say."

"Oh, be quick, then!" she cried. "Be quick!"

"Let us unite our poverties," I said, "and see whether we cannot evolve riches from the union. The experiment has, I believe, been tried before."

She turned to me, and her eyes told me that she understood.

"If you only knew how funny you look!" she said. "Do put your hat straight. No—let me do it for you."

She did it for me, and somehow our lips met.

"This has been a great day for me," I said. There was a rustling in the bracken a moment later, and Mrs. Bursar emerged upon us. I rose and bowed.

"Good morning, Mrs. Bursar!" I said.—New Budget.
